

What is remote learning?

Pupils receive their education through a mixture of virtual face-to-face teaching and home taught activities set by their teacher and delivered by the parent/carer. This will ensure your child maintains and potentially develops their skills when not in the academy.

How will the academy provide this?

- The teacher will contact you to discuss the learning plan and the best way to provide the learning activities.
- The teacher will maintain weekly contact whilst your child is at home.
- The teacher will use their knowledge of your child (how they learn, what their learning priorities are, what technology/resources they have access to at home) to put together relevant activities.
- The activities will link into the current theme/topic (where possible) to make the learning relevant so as on your child's return to school they will not have missed big chunks of learning.
- The activities provided will be short bursts of learning, which are easily resourced in the home, and there will be no expectations to print off resources at home.

What will the academy provide?

The teacher will provide learning activities for you to deliver in the home linked directly to your child's learning priorities.

What does the academy need from you?

- Honesty and engagement. If you cannot deliver the activities set, please tell the teacher why. This will enable the teacher to change the approach and suggest alternative activities.
- To be kept up to date on how your child is doing in terms of their home learning. This could be via Class Dojo, telephone call, email, etc, whichever method is easiest for yourself.
- An understanding that the academy has a legal obligation to provide learning for your child whilst they are at home.

What should I do if my child is struggling at home?

Contact your child's teacher as soon as possible, do not wait for the weekly phone call from the teacher.
